

Only $19,000.00 Needed To Complete 7th Quota

Hurry- Only One More Week To Go

The time set for the close of the 7th War Loan drive is June 30. That is one more week to go.

Hamlin's quota was considerable, $137,000.00 E-Series, and $210,100 Overall. The Overall quota has several days ago been met, but as of Wednesday noon of this week, Tate May, Local Chairman, announced that we lack $19,000 having the E-Bond quota. That is not much, when you see the bank deposits and realize how much more is being added to that each week. More than $19,000 of new-made money, because of the war will be banked in Hamlin before June 30th closes.

Hamlin bond sponsors have let "patriotism" rule in this campaign. No extra pressure has been put on —no speech-making—not much advertising—no "Military Shows," to build up "morale" to make the "old boy" turn loose some hoarded cash...just, Mr. Hamlin Citizen, it is up to you...how do you act when there is no one watching how much you shell down in a public way? "No one watching?" Heck, there are a million soldier spirits in the beyond watching "how you carry on"...Certainly there will be another "DRIVE," maybe two or three...who knows how long it will take to finish off the Japs?...but here is betting a hole in a doughnut that Hamlin folks will meet every bond quota through to the very last. It is good business to do so. REMEMBER $19,000.00 YET needed.

Pfc. J. D. Hayes Died In Jap Prison Camp In Philippines June 5, 1942

On Wednesday of this week, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hayes received a letter from the War Department, which confirmed the death of their son, J. D. Hayes, who was reported missing in the Philippines in 1942. In a previous message, he was reported "presumably dead." The letter, dated June 15, 1945, is as follows:

"I am writing you relative to my previous letter in which you were regretfully informed that a Finding of Death had been made in the case of your son, Private First Class J. D. Hayes, 18,036,361, Infantry, and that the presumptive date of his death had been established as of July 1, 1944.

"An official report has now been received that he died in a Prisoner of War Camp in the Philippine Islands on June 5, 1942, as a result of cerebral malaria.

"Sincerely, J. A. Ulio, Maj. Gen." J. D. Hayes was born at Neinda, Dec. 22, 1919. He enlisted in the Regular Army, Feb. 20, 1941, and was sent to the Philippine Islands in March of that year. He was placed in Co. E, 31st Infantry. He was captured at Bataan.

Survivors are his parents; three brothers, Tech Sgt. G. W. Hayes, of California, Bert Hayes of Merkel, and Billy Ray Hayes of Hamlin; and two sisters, Misses Bessie and Emma Gene Hayes of Hamlin.

B. Beauchamp Reported In Philippine Fighting

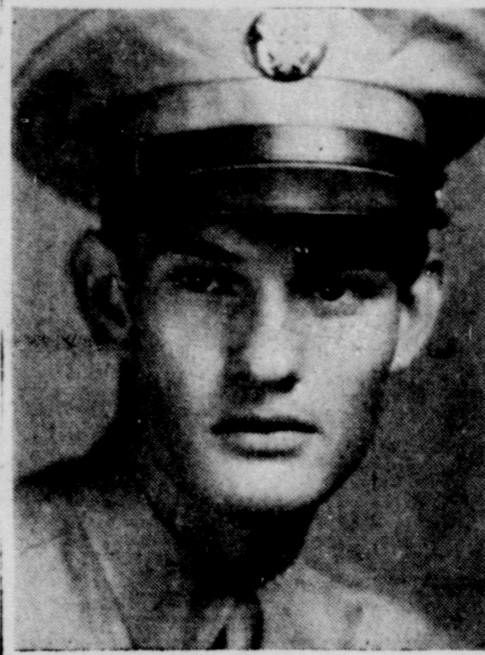

Mrs. P. H. Beauchamp, of Rt. 1, Hamlin, has received word that her son, Sergeant Bob Beauchamp, was wounded on Luzon. May 17, His wife resides at Chula Vista, Calif. Information is that a shell fragment struck him in the back of the head, but it is believed that the injury is not serious. Before going into service, he worked at Waggoner Drug Co.

Sgt. Beauchamp is a brother of Mrs. Jesse R. Bonds. He has three brothers in service: Cpl. John, in the Air Corps; Webster in the Navy; and Shelby, a Chaplain in the Navy, stationed at Honolulu.

Editor Will Gay, of Moody, Texas, spent the week end in Hamlin visiting his sister, Miss May Gay, and other relatives. Miss Gay has been quite ill for several weeks. He also wanted to see his nephew, Sgt. John C. Jenkins, who recently arrived from the European war area. Editor Gay is putting out a good paper at Moody, in spite of labor shortage and type setting machine.

S-Sgt Earl Smith Comes In From German Prison

STAFF SGT. EARL E. SMITH

A full year is a mighty short time for most people, but for a young man, not long married, with a daughter back home, and a million memories of his home-land, 365 days mean a long time, especially if that young man has spent nearly every day of that year in a German Prison Camp... that, in short, is the full story of Staff Sgt. Earl E. Smith, member of the Air Forces, who arrived in Hamlin last Sunday from being a prisoner of war, coming hundreds of miles through Germany under German guards, being rescued by the English, making his way west through Belgium, across to England, then across the Atlantic by ship to New York, and down to San Antonio and up to "Dear Old Hamlin"...yes, for a soldier like that, a year is a long time.

But Sgt. Earl Smith is at home now. He has been bubbling over with happiness all this week...has finally made the acquaintance of his daughter, Mary Louise, now 14 months of age, and in the flow of gladness, his wife, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wood Smith, and other relatives, and a host of friends of Hamlin have shared generously. Congratulations, Earl. We hope you will never have to fight in another war.

There are hardly any secrets now but can be told about Earl. His overseas unit was the 755 Bomb. Sqdn., 458th Bomb. Group, with the Eighth AAF in England.

Earl was born in the Hamlin community, April 11, 1924. He graduated from Hamlin High School in 1942, and the same year, entered the Air Forces, and also in the same year, was married to Miss Craigolene Elmore. Before joining the service, he worked in the F & M National Bank in Hamlin. He took his training at Scott Field, Ill., in radio; attended gunners school at Tyndal Field, Fla., and received his final training at Westover Field, Mass. Earl landed in Scotland on D-Day. He got to make two missions over Germany before going down, June 29, and was reported missing; on July 11, he was reported a prisoner of war.

Sgt. Smith said he had been dreading the bombing missions, but after making the first one and getting back without injury, decided it was not so bad...but on the second, up on the Baltic, his plane got more flak than it could get home on and finally the order was to jump. Then it was that he got his first experience under a parachute. He landed with an ankle sprained. Ger-

JOHN GREEN MOTOR COMPANY OPENS IN BIGGER BUILDING; NEW EQUIPMENT

In this week's Herald, you will note the attractive display announcement of the John Green Motor Co. John is getting in on the "first floor" and has already rearranged and extended his display rooms, parts department, and repair shop to include floor space for a whole of a big business in the years just after the war activities stop.

John, for a long time, has held the dealership of the Dodge-Plymouth cars, and is expecting something very new "under the hood" in a short while. His new space will accommodate a display of about six cars at a time. This will not interfere with the ample space for extra engines, extra everything, including small parts, etc., in his front rooms. Besides this, he has ample office and accounting rooms. And in the rear part of his double building is his well-equipped repair shop, staffed by two expert mechanics. He will later be able to handle six cars at a time in the department.

John is so very modest he does not even enjoy seeing his picture in his advertising, but the Dodge-Plymouth Company wants the public to know who their business-like salesmen are, so that's that, John. (At least that grandson does not think you are ugly.) And the son, First Lieutenant John F. Green, Jr., in Germany, would rather see that old face of yours than any other man in this world, so again, why "kick"? As for the people, gosh, they are looking for pretty cars, not mere men, so again, it is OK.

Everybody who enjoys seeing neat and well arranged, better places of business will congratulate the John F. Green Motor Co. Congratulations, Green's, all of you.

Receives Bronze Star

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Maberry, of near McCauley, have good reason to be proud of their son-in-law. Technician Fourth Grade Armond A. Smith, husband of the former Miss Sue Maberry, who sends a citation from the Eighth Infantry Division awarding the Bronze Star Medal to Smith, on May 27, 1945. The citation reads as follows:

"Technician Fourth Grade Armond

man civilians came running to him, and evidently the old man understood that the young American was very thirsty, because he ordered his daughter to go up to the house and get some water. Soon an army detail came for him, and after a while the entire crew was back together, with only two injured ankles. They were taken to a temporary camp, for interrogation, and later were sent to a camp northeast of Berlin.

Earl said it was, perhaps, the best camp in Germany for prisoners. However, they were crowded in their barracks, food was not what a fellow could fatten on, and he lost 30 pounds. Earl said they were always hungry. Red Cross packages soon began coming in and what they got helped out on their scanty rations. Then after months, the Russian guns could be heard, but the German guards told the boys it was "practice" firing...and in February, the evacuation started.

Earl said he got to see over 500 miles of Germany on foot. They marched west to near Hanover, and doubled back, and finally the Yanks and English came near and many of the fellows escaped. On these marches (to escape the Russians), food was scarce, and the men were allowed to "rustle" from the civilians, who seemed to have plenty.

Well, it is good to be at home again. Earl will have 30 days here, and then will report to a swank hotel in Florida. He says, "Gosh, this country looks so safe and clean and plentiful."

Information further says that the young soldier shot down a German plane the day his unit met the Russians. His wife lives in Dallas during the absence of her husband. Young Smith was in the senior class at McCauley High School and was drafted before he graduated.

Farmers Plan Greater Buys In War Bonds

In spite of an "off" season so far as income is concerned, farm War Bond leaders are now making preparations for selling more bonds to farmers during the Seventh War Loan than in any previous drive, according to M. L. Predmore, Chief of the Agricultural Section, War Finance Division, Treasury Department. With the help of country bankers they're out to convince the men who till the soil that they should convert their expanded bank accounts into bonds.

"Farmers, like all Americans, have been building up bank deposits and currency holdings ever since the war started," Predmore said. "On January 1, 1920, agriculture held currency and bank deposits totaling slightly over 4 billion dollars. The 1945 figure is not available, but it is expected to be in excess of 10 billion."

With larger operations and increased costs farmers must have more operating capital than in 1940, but they don't need 10 billion, in Predmore's opinion. He believes farmers can and will put a substantial portion of these cash reserves into War Bonds.

When they go out to sell War Bonds to farmers in the Seventh, War Finance Committees throughout the nation will stress personal solicitation. A survey made following the Sixth War Loan showed that 57 percent of the farmers who were personally solicited bought bonds.

WHETHER it's baseball or business, Americans expect fair play all the way.

In baseball, the umpire sees to it that the game is played according to the rules. But he is not a player.

In business, government should be the umpire who enforces fair rules.

But when government goes into business and competes with its own citizens, the American tradition of fair play is set aside. The umpire then becomes a player, and he enjoys advantages that are denied to all the other players.

For example, government and municipal power-plants are not required to pay federal taxes; often get money from the U. S. Treasury at little or no interest; make up losses out of the pockets of the taxpayers.

Maybe you run a store or service station or beauty shop. Would you like to have a next-door competitor who has little or no rent, or taxes, or interest to pay, and who is kept in business partly by your tax money?

Fortunately for America today, over 80% of the tremendous electric power in this country is produced by tax-paying, self-supporting electric light and power companies, owned and operated by several million folks like you.

These business-managed companies are a big reason why there is enough electricity to meet even the gigantic demands of war—and why, when most things cost more, electricity is still delivered at low pre-war prices.

Former Hamlin Girl Marries In California

Northbrae Community Church on Arlington Ave. in Berkeley, Calif., was the scene of the marriage of Miss Beulah Lou Burns to First Lt. Jay Olin Reed, U. S. Marine Corps, on June 7, 1945. For the twilight ceremony, the altar was decorated with white gladioli. Tall tapers in branched candlesticks were lighted by altar boys as Chaplain R. A. Sothern, U. S. Army, played Elgar's "Salut D'Amour" on the organ.

Rev. Laurance L. Cross read the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by Mr. George H. Nash. Lt. Ralph Hoffman, US MCR, of Charleston, S. C., was the best man.

A lime green crepe dress was selected by the bride to harmonize with the green of the officer's uniform. She wore a large black taffeta hat with matching accessories. Her bouquet was a combination of American Beauty roses and stephanotis.

Honor attendant was Mrs. George H. Nash who wore a blue ensemble and a corsage of lavender orchids.

Wedding guests were received at the Nash residence on Harbord Drive in Oakland, and were later entertained at dinner at the Claremont Hotel.

Mrs. Reed is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Burns, of San Diego, Calif., formerly of Hamlin, Texas. She attended Sul Ross State College at Alpine, Texas.

Lt. Reed is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Reed of Abilene, Texas. He is a graduate of West Texas State College, Canyon, Texas. He recently returned from duty in the Pacific with the Third Marine Division. While overseas, he served with First Lt. George R. Nash, whose parents were hosts at the reception. The bridal couple are spending their honeymoon in Yosemite Valley, Calif.

Spar Garb Makes Invaders Blush

ABOARD A COAST GUARD-MANNED ASSAULT TRANSPORT IN THE PACIFIC (Special)—A few weeks ago men buying new dungarees at ship and island base clothing lockers in the Pacific began to notice that their trousers had an unfamiliar roominess about the hips, reported Stuart L. Parker, Coast Guard combat correspondent. In general their new pants didn't have the streamlined effect of the old style sailor dungarees.

Recently the truth came out. The dungarees these fighting sailors were buying actually were designed for those SPARS and WAVES whose duties necessitated rough-wear clothing. Confronted with a shortage of dungarees for the men in the Pacific, the service just shipped the feminine design out for use aboard ship.

There isn't a whole lot of difference, except for the extra hip room. But at the moment nothing short of official urgings will persuade anyone that he really needs a new pair of dungaree pants.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Gray, of Georgetown, came up Monday to look after their farms in Jones Co. This is the first time in over two years that Mr. Gray has been in the county. He lost his left arm in a gin accident nearly two years ago, but now he actually looks younger than before the accident.

Engineer and Mrs. Grover Carter and daughter, Miss Mary Yvonne, of Slaton, have been spending several days in Hamlin while Engineer Carter was helping the Santa Fe move the grain crop from this area of Texas. These folks are old-timers in Hamlin. Mrs. Carter was the former Miss Euell Green, whose father, J. W. Green, is still in railroad service out of San Angelo. All old timers still say "Euell Green" and the old timers are those boys and girls who were in the seventh grade on Nov. 11, 1819, and helped Ye Editor celebrate.

From field
telephones
...to farm
telephones

The army field telephone set is a rugged product of telephone science. The same research and skill which go into these tough little battle talkers are going today into plans for postwar farm telephone service.

Already, research has found new ways to extend and improve farm service. Practical telephone men are busy right now with such developments as a system for sending telephone messages over electric power lines—new types of wire to string on poles or bury underground—dial telephone systems for small communities and surrounding farms—radiotelephones to reach remote spots.

When the wartime job eases up, plans for postwar farm telephone service will be ready to go.

Training Riding Horses, advertised in our columns, is a book every cattleman should have. It tells by pictures and simple words how to make good riding horses.

John C. Burns, manager of the 6666 Ranch and president of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, whose long experience on ranches makes him competent to speak, says:

"Horses on commercial cattle ranches are a means to an end. The business requires that cattle be handled at times by men on horses. The better the horses are, the fewer will be required, and the more efficient the work. The gentle, well-trained horse that responds promptly and accurately to the rider will accomplish far more than the 'Brone' or the 'Outlaw' and is both safer and more dependable. A gentle, well-trained horse will result if proper training begins with foalhood, provided he has been well endowed with possibilities through good breeding."

Now that the War in Europe is over

What about travel?

Now, you may naturally ask, "Won't it be a little easier to get accommodations?" ... "Won't it be a little more comfortable to travel?"

We of the Santa Fe would like to hold out some hope to our friends who have good reasons for taking a trip, but who find it difficult to do so.

We would like to give those who do travel all the little niceties of service that are part of the Santa Fe tradition.

Bigger Traffic Loads

The stubborn facts are that the traffic to our Pacific ports of war is stepping up instead of letting down!

This means, in the war days to come, there will be more passenger and freight traffic—new loads and greater loads and less space for civilian travelers than ever on Santa Fe rails.

In The Meantime

Santa Fe facilities have been enormously increased—bigger yards; more freight Diesels; centralized traffic control at key points; and improved shop tools and practices which keep our locomotives rolling.

In peacetime these increased facilities will enable us to provide better service than ever. But in the meantime, the stuff needed to lick Japan is top priority.

So—again we ask, "Unless your trip is essential, can't you put it off until we have a little better opportunity to serve you in the traditional Santa Fe manner?"

Time To Apply For School District Transfer

B. T. Beavers, County Superintendent of Schools, announces that it is now time for parents to transfer their school children, and only those whose grades are not taught in the home district should make application to transfer. Mr. Beavers further states that parents will be required to pay tuition and transportation on their children if their children's grades are taught in the home district and they are sent elsewhere.

It is imperative that all high school students, whose intention it is to attend an accredited high school, be transferred prior to August 1st. Unless such students are transferred, the schools they attend may lose considerable amounts of money.

Transfer blanks are available in the County Superintendent's office now, and also in offices of Independent District's Superintendents.

Application for transfer must be made by August 1.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

(By BOYCE HOUSE)

Every town has citizens and characteristics that make it different from all other towns in the world.

For example, take Ranger—not during the great oil rush but years after the boom had ended.

Ranger was the home of Rural Murry, holder of the world's record for a mile on a motorcycle over a dirt track; and of a mayor renowned for his skill at barbecuing, especially the sauce, made by his own secret formula; and of men who followed the dogs in a wolf hunt, not on horseback, but in an automobile, jolting across the rough and rugged terrain of the ranch country.

Also Ranger was the home town of Buster Mills, one of the all-time gridiron greats of the University of Oklahoma and the hero of an East-West game in San Francisco, his field goal being the only score of the afternoon.

It was while at Oklahoma U. that Mills performed a feat that outdid Frank Merriwell himself! A track meet and a baseball game were in progress simultaneously. Near the end of the meet, the coach saw that the Sooners could win if they could place in the javelin throw—but he had no javelin hurler. He hastened to the nearby diamond and, while Oklahoma was at bat, Mills went over and, in baseball togs, tossed the javelin far enough to win third place, and the meet; then went back to the diamond and tripled with the bases full to win the ball game!

Ranger was the home of a Marine who was wounded in the Nicaraguan jungle by Sandino's men; and the town also boasted of a fireworks expert. This latter prepared all the elaborate pieces of pyrotechnics for the Fourth of July celebrations in the baseball park. But his greatest claim to fame was what he did, almost!

Back a great many years ago, a group of Navy planes was circling the globe. When they had crossed the United States, their history-making flight would be over. It was learned that they would pass over Ranger, so the fireworks expert prepared a salute. When an observer came into his shop and yelled, "They're coming!" he ran out and without, even looking up, touched off the charge. It exploded high in the sky, so close to one of the planes that it rocked in the blast. The pilot had crossed oceans, deserts, swamps, and then was almost wrecked over Ranger!

And I'll bet your town has interesting people and has witnessed interesting events, too.

Doctors Find Way To Prevent Palsy

Operation on Brain Stops Shaking of Hands.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—A new brain operation for shaking palsy has been reported in modern medicine.

This operation has cured 78 per cent of 200 cases on which it was attempted. It consists in removing a fold of gray matter about the size of a long slim potato from the top frontal portion of the brain. This section is known as the premotor area.

The new operation was devised by Roland M. Klemme, M. D., of this city. It follows work by a group of eminent scientists on the nature of shaking palsy, medically known as Parkinson's disease, or paralysis agitans.

This palsy, which causes a continuous shaking of the hands, and frequently a fixed lifting of the eyebrows and staring expression, was found due to destruction of some nerve pathways in the brain. These paths were in the basal ganglia, which are lemon sized organs, midway between the temples and the back of the head.

Several surgical operations have been tried but none had a high percentage of success. Dr. Klemme's operation came from a shrewd guess about what goes on among some tens of thousands of brain nerve fibers.

Palsy victims can make any voluntary movements they wish. But they cannot stop shaking when they want to relax. Their voluntary movements are directed from an area of the brain near the top of the head known as the motor cortex.

This voluntary center lies between the premotor area and the lemon shaped ganglia. Dr. Klemme reasoned that normally the premotor and the ganglia maintain a nerve energy balance, which the voluntary motor area interrupts when, for instance, a person wants to move his hand.

With some of the ganglia known to be destroyed, Dr. Klemme reasoned further that the balance was upset, leaving the premotor area to cause the uncontrollable shaking. He took out the area and in most cases the shaking stopped. Removing the premotor part of a human brain does not appear to cause mental or physical damage.

V-Bomb Kills Parents

As Girl Goes to School

LONDON. — The official language still calls them V-bomb "incidents" in southern England.

Thirteen-year-old Daphne Newton figured in one. She had just said good-bye to her father and mother and run out of the house to call for a friend on the way to school.

As she rounded the corner and pushed open her friend's gate, the V-weapon fell. When choking clouds of dust cleared, Daphne looked back. Her home was a rubble; her parents dead beneath it.

Her neighborhood since 1940 has been scarred by a mine, an ordinary bomb and two flying bombs, all before last fall.

The local church has been damaged for the fourth time. Another V-weapon injured many children who were on their way to school. The head teacher says most of them would have been killed if the bomb had struck later when all were in school.

Aircraft Worker Speeds

Up as His Family Grows

LOS ANGELES.—Ceil Langston, aircraft worker, telephoned his wife's physician that the stork was near.

"Better hurry her to the hospital," the doctor advised.

En route Langston called again, frantically reporting:

"What'll I do, doctor? There's a baby in the back seat."

Again he was advised to hasten along.

Presently he called again.

"Doctor, when I got back to the car there were two babies!"

All was well with Mrs. Langston and her twin daughters later at the hospital.

Best Safety Record Made

By Nation's Coal Mines

WASHINGTON. — The nation's coal mines last year chalked up their best safety record in history despite equipment shortages, loss of skilled workers and other wartime handicaps, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes said recently.

In a report to congress on the federal mine inspection program, he said that 1,306 mine workers lost their lives in 1944. This is a fatality rate of only 1.91 life for each 1,000,000 tons of bituminous coal and anthracite produced. The rate was 2.26 deaths per 1,000,000 tons in 1943.

Fight Battle of Odor

With Convoy of Skunks

ALBANY. —Motorists rubbed their eyes in unbelief, then broke all records in closing automobile windows as a convoy of skunks, reported to have numbered at least 300, crossed the four-lane Albany-Schenectady road. It was believed that brush fires had driven the skunks from their old lairs.

STAY SAFE OFF-THE-JOB, TOO

Ever see a carnival performer dive from a high tower into a tub of water?

What a thriller!

But you wouldn't try it. Too risky, you'd say.

Yet when you dive into unfamiliar water, you're taking a greater risk.

Don't be foolish around water. If seven thousand Americans who drowned last year had known and obeyed a few simple rules they would be alive today.

Don't dive into water you don't know. It may be dangerously shallow or hide rocks or stumps that could break your neck.

The National Safety Council recommends that you wait two hours after eating before going in swimming. Remember, too, that swimming requires good general physical condition.

Stay out of the water if you're overheated from exercise or the sun. Wait until you cool off, then go in, but never alone.

Whenever possible, swim where a life guard is on duty. But no matter how many people are around, do not swim far from shore, unless you are accompanied by a boat.

If you suffer cramps in the water, don't lose your head. Try to float while signaling for assistance.

Keep yourself safe by taking no chances. Learn rescue methods and special respiration so you can save others.

RESCUE IN LABRADOR WILDERNESS

A Coast Guard helicopter drops gently to the surface of a frozen-over lake near a remote weather station with one of 11 Canadian plane crash victims rescued by the Coast Guard craft from the bleak wilderness of North Labrador. The helicopter is landed on a strip of canvas to prevent the floats from freezing to the ice. With Coast Guard Lt. August Kleisch, of Cincinnati, Ohio, as pilot, the helicopter took aboard the marooned fliers by means of a rope ladder and moved them, one at a time, to the weather station 32 miles away.

Sgt. Iris Pribble writes the Hamlin Herald from his Army station in California, saying, "I go from one extreme to another"... he means that he of the extremes was in the Aleutians and now it is a kind of paradise there in California. But he still sees the blue skies of old Texas and New Mexico. Here is what he says about that: "This part of California, in my opinion at least, is the prettiest. It is mountainous, lots of trees and flowers and a wonderful climate. However, I wouldn't trade for West Texas and Eastern New Mexico (can't slight NM), with several other states thrown in. Not only is the country different, but the people are vastly different as well; the old friendliness is lacking."

Marshall, King Pledge Victory to 'Bond Front'

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Army has overcome what in the past would have seemed to have been insurmountable obstacles and the Navy has promised unconditional surrender, Chief of Staff General George C. Marshall and Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King said today, in commenting on the Mighty Seventh War Loan.

General Marshall said: "We in the Army have overcome what in the past would have seemed to have been insurmountable obstacles. So have you. That is where the enemy miscalculated—for to Americans, nothing has ever been impossible. Yours is a hard task—a heavy responsibility. But we of the Army have confidence that you will again achieve the impossible."

Admiral King said: "We have had two wars to wage. One of those wars is just beginning. That means that your own labors, far from over, are also just beginning. The Navy, like the Army, has one objective. The unconditional surrender of the enemy. We will attain that objective because of people of good faith. People who have demonstrated their patriotism and their willingness to undertake the most gigantic financial task ever undertaken by a free people."

Roy M. Green Tells a Farm Story

By President Roy M. Green Colorado A & M College Fort Collins, Colorado

Big crops and good prices left a wheat farmer not long ago with $30,000 cash in the bank. Said he, "If I don't invest this in inflated land values, what can I do with it to earn anything?" I said to him, "Did you ever think of using part of it to insure yourself a steadier farm income after the war? For $150 a month, or $1,800 a year in War Bonds, you can begin to collect ten years after the war $200 a month. As you will be getting older by that time, wouldn't that be a better supplement to what income the farm then produces than having to turn again to the cream can and what your wife can make out of chickens? Wouldn't it be a nice retirement fund for a fellow that is now 55 years old? Wouldn't you like to have had $200 a month cash coming in last time?" In addition, if you can put in War Bonds a lump-sum as reserve for operations in bad years, for deferred purchases of equipment, for repairs, for up-keep, for new household equipment; and then whatever the postwar adjustment, you would have an easier time of it than you had last time.

You wouldn't have to wait on somebody's extra special plan; you would have already completed one of your own.

If you are proud of the independence of your occupation, and jealous of preserving as much of it as possible, don't orate and speculate—order WAR BONDS!

Farm Security Set-Up Helping Jones County

The Farm Security Administration is dedicated to the task of helping disadvantaged families help themselves, through a program of financial credit and technical agricultural assistance. Approximately one out of every five farm families in this state has received some form of aid from FSA since the program was initiated in 1935. FSA is not an agency giving money away; it is lending the money at interest and its collection record is outstanding. Also its achievements in the form of an improved living standard and a more helpful outlook for thousands of low-income farmers are worthy memorials to those private citizens and men in government who formulated and have carried out its program.

grams. The support and the understanding of the men like yourself of the Press, has been a contributing factor in this record.

Since FSA made its first loan in Jones County, it has loaned a total of $960,959.66. It has collected $687,207.61, not including interest, and in 1944, FSA collected nearly twice as much as it advanced to farmers. Two hundred sixty-eight families paid off their loans in full. We believe that this is proof abundant that, given a chance, the American farm family can actually pull itself up by its own bootstraps.

We believe that FSA also has contributed materially toward improving the health of the people, the conservation of the soil, the perpetuation of the family-type farm as the cornerstone of American agriculture and the bulwark of American democracy.

We sincerely invite those interested to visit our office any day and give us the opportunity to answer any questions you might have about the work being done by FSA in Jones County, and give us the benefit of any suggestions you might have.

The above report was made by Thomas W. Wiley, FSA Supervisor, Anson, Texas.

'Think on these things'

The Church

The word, Ekklesia, from which the word church is translated, is used one hundred and fifteen times in the New Testament. It is translated "church" one hundred and twelve times; in the singular form seventy-six times, and in the plural thirty-six; three times it is rendered "assembly." (Acts 19:32; 39, 41)

The church is the New Testament institution; it is not to be found in the Old Testament, save by prophecy and in types—never in reality. The Lord Jesus used the word three times. In Matt. 16:18, he said: "Upon this rock will I build my church," and in Matt. 18:17, he was instructing his disciples on reconciliation and church discipline.

Beginning with the book of Acts, the word is used profusely; to be exact, one hundred and nine times. Acts of the Apostles gives the history of the church, its establishment, and the record of its thirty years' work in evangelizing the world. Here, the shadows give place to reality, the prophecies of the church find fulfillment, and the material prepared by Christ during his personal ministry on earth is placed into the building—his promise to build the church is executed. The first Pentecost following the resurrection of Jesus is the birthday of the church. After this memorable day, the inspired writers speak of "the church in Jerusalem"; "the churches established"; "the church of the Gentiles"; "the church of God at Corinth" and "the church of the Lord" is everywhere made known. No such expressions are found before the book of Acts.

The church is exceedingly definite. These expressions abound; "The church," without modifiers, is used sixty-two times; "the churches," twenty-nine times; "the church of God," "the churches of God," the body of Christ, "the church which is his body," "the head of the body, the church." It is never translated "a church." The modern denominational conception of the church is unknown to the New Testament. The church of the New Testament is that institution over which Christ is the head (Eph. 1:22-23), in which God dwells (Eph. 2:21-22), and of which every saved person is a member. (Rom. 12:4-5)

The term church is used in the New Testament in a three-fold way. (1) To include all the saved, the redeemed in the aggregate (Matt. 16:18; Eph. 1:22-23; Col. 1:18); (2) To include the saved of certain provinces. "So the church throughout Judea and Galilee and Samaria had peace" (Acts 9:31). Local congregations of these provinces met regularly, but the provincial church never assembled. (3) The leading idea of the church is local; The church in Jerusalem (Acts 8:1); the church at Corinth (I Cor. 1:2); the church of Thessalonica (I Thes. 1:1) and the seven churches of Asia (Rev. 1:4). The local congregation is God's working unit. Each local church had Christ as the head (Eph. 1:22-23), invested with all authority (Matt. 28:18); its elders to oversee and direct (Titus 1:5); its deacons to serve (I Tim. 3:8); its evangelist to preach the word (Acts 21:8; Eph. 4:11); its teachers to instruct (Acts 13:1); its members to co-operate (Acts 6:2); and the word of God to direct in all things (II Tim. 3:16-17).

This local assembly included the saved in its community. In its locality, it was God's divine institution to preach the gospel. It was independent of all other local assemblies, and it respected the equal rights of all other New Testament churches. It could, and often did, co-operate with other congregations in any good work—work too large for one church to assume the full support. Thus, the local church is strikingly emphasized in the New Testament.

Comment No. 1

We would be ungrateful if we failed to pay our respects to General Buckner, Commander of the 10th Army, who was killed last Sunday on Okinawa, while leading his men in the final battle on that island against the Japs.

General Buckner has proven himself to be a great leader of men and a great American who was respected not only by the men in uniform but by the folks back home who have followed his foot-steps through the press while he and his men fought so gallantly against the foe.

Yes, there will be others who will carry on, but America has lost a great General who braved all the horrors of war to lead a great army to victory. The battle of Okinawa is in its final stages and what a pity that so great a general was not spared long enough to see the victory. But so goes war—with all of its horrors, disappointments, and even death. But still the Stars and Stripes fly over Okinawa as we pause to pay tribute to a fallen General. —A-DARDEN-O-GRAM.

Mrs. Cecil Allison, the former Koleta Newsom, enjoyed a social visit with Mr. and Mrs. John C. Turner, Monday, while her husband made sales contact with Hamlin merchants. They live in Wichita Falls.

Well broken, gentle horses of good riding type, raised in the range states are bringing from $175 to $200 per head in eastern states, if sold by responsible local dealers who unreservedly guarantee them to be gentle and safe for children or women.

Many ranchmen say they do not have time to make riding horses gentle and safe. The King Ranch—biggest cattle outfit in Texas—says:

"It costs less in time, labor and money to train riding horses by starting their handling at an early age and proceeding as illustrated in the booklet Training Riding Horses. Colts handled in this manner make safer and, on the average, more satisfactory mounts. Six years ago we completely discarded the old method of letting our riding horses go until they were over three years of age, at which time they were taken up, roped and after preliminary handling, saddled and ridden."

"A good many bucking horses were the inevitable result and only a small percentage were ever really gentle and safe. Due to the necessity of using force many were injured and a good many of our men were hurt. We have records to show that we have more good horses, and less men injured, under the present system."

The booklet mentioned is advertised in our columns. Send and get it.
